IS IT A CABLE GOBBLE?

Report That the Pennsy Has Gained Entire Control of Both

FIFTH AND PENN AVE. CAR LINES,

And That Small Stations Between East Liberty and the City May be Left.

A PENNA, OFFICIAL DENIES ITS TRUTH

In view of the rapid development of traction railway traffic in this city and to its eastern suburbs, many sumors, based upon the live interest the people naturally feel in such a new departure, have from time to time cropped out regarding the ultimate ownership and policy of these lines. One of the most interesting of these reports came very quietly, if not confidentially, to the surface last evening. It conthe Pennsylvania Railroad, whose local traffic the former has notably and admittedly affected of late, to a degree. It was to the effect that local passenger trains on the Pennsylvania Railroad need not, in the very near future, stop at all at Lawrenceville, Ben Venue or Roup stations, because, as it was alleged, the Pennsylvania was seeking to gain, or had already gained, control of the traction lines. False or true, the rumor seemed too interesting to be hidden under a bushel, and so, after doing all in its power to get at both sides, THE DIS-PATCH gives it to the public for whatever it may be worth.

The beauty of the whole thing can be seen by putting the two together. If the Pennsylvania has gained control of the cable lines as reported, the most natural thing in the world would be to discontinue some of the numerous local trains and small stations, and thus allow the cable lines to pick up the balance of trade. In order to ascertain just what there was in the report an effort was made to find Superintendent R. Pitcairn.

HE HAD GONE EAST.

A call was made at his residence, on Ellsworth avenue, last night, but it was found he had left carlier in the evening for the East. He had gone to New York, and why was not stated. Another prominent Pennsylvania official was found, and he expressed himself as simply amazed at the reports, which, he said, were entirely new to him. After a few moments' thought the gentleman said: On behalf of the Pennsylvania road I would say that, even admitting the fact that the Pennsylvania had lost some local travel, and that the people who find it convenient are using the cable lines, still I know we have not lost sufficient to cause us to discontinue any of our trains, and it is simply preposterous to imagine that any of our way stations would be discontinued in order to throw travel to the

In regard to the Pennsy controlling the cable lines, I don't think that road is in the cable business, and I don't think that road wants any of it either, and as far as I know, that report of their controlling the Fifth and Penn avenue lines is absolutely untrue. Peun avenue lines is absolutely untrue.

I repeat that we have lost some travel between here and East Liberty, but if we hadlost one-half as much as popular impression imagines, the cable cars would be utterly unable to carry their enormous trade. The bulk of their business is entirely new, because people finding it convenient to travel do sc, where before they stayed at home for want of facilities to reach the city.

Here the interview closed, the gentleman refusing to answer some questions in regard to his knowledge of the individual stockolders of the Penn avenue and Fifth avenue lines, nor was he willing that his name used, though be declared it was both PERSONALLY AND OFFICIALLY TRUE

Pennsylvania, but on the contrary there would be more trains running six months later than there are now.

later than there are now.

Notwithstanding these denials, which were certainly made in good faith, the reports were so straightforward, and also iven in such good faith, that they are at east worth printing as among the possibilities of which not even every official of the road would necessarily be advised.

It will be remembered by the financial people that Mr. Robert Pitcairn was a large ouver of Penn avenue cable stock, he, with N. Holmes & Son, and several Pittsburg and Allegheny people practically con-trolling the line. It is also known tha both Messrs. Elkins and Widener, of Philadelphia, are very large holders of the Fifth avenue stock. They are also stockavenue stock. holders in the Pennsylvania; so it can easily be seen that the Pennsylvania can practically own the cable lines without even having its name mentioned on the list of stockholders. It seems almost impossible to get at the heart of the affair now, but events will be watched keenly by both the financial public and the public at large, who are of the non-gobbling idea, and who realize that between the upper and nether millstone of the cables and Pennsylvania, run for revenue only, they may be ground

A Singular Form of Monomania.

There is a class of people, rational enough in other respects, who are certainly monomaniacs in dosing themselves. Twenty Illegal Votes Discovered in One Ward in That Council Contest.

Commissioner J. S. Young filed his report in the Common Council election in the Thirty-first ward, giving the election to An-Thirty-first ward, giving the election to Andrew Binder by a majority of 12 votes.

Binder was elected by two votes over William O. Russell last February, and a contest ensued.

Mr. Young in his report says the following voters were illegal: For Binder—John R. Frisbee, Gollieb Paul, John Hartner, Sr., Albert Flanders, Thomas Pritchard, William H. Lindsey, B. D. Galbraith and Richard Rossiter; total, S. For Parcell. Sangel Angell Ir. John Back. For Russell-Samuel Ansell, Jr., John Beckman, Sr., John Beckman, Jr., George Long, Lawrence Tracessor, John Quinn, Robert Beck, George W. Bean, Thornton Smith, Charles Haffey, James A. Wheeler and Andrew Sowers; total 19

trailey, James A. wheeler and Andrew Sowers, total, 12.

Blinder's total vote was 264, and 8 illegal votes left him a vote of 256. Russell's total vote was 262, and 12 illegal votes left him a vote of 250, giving Binder a majority of 12, and confirming his election. The Commissioner stated further that the appeal was well taken on account of the number of illegal votes discovered, and that he recommended that the costs be paid by
